

Changes in Application Procedures for Entrance Examinations for the Fall Examination (Notice)

The Graduate School of Information Sciences (GSIS), Tohoku University plans to change the application procedure as follows, effective from the Fall Examination.

For details, please refer to the application guideline to be published on the GSIS website at a later date (the application guideline will not be provided in hard copy).

(Before the change)

Paper-based application

(After the change)

Application through the Online Application System

April 27, 2022

Graduate School of Information Sciences
Tohoku University